I. Admission Policy and Outline of the Graduate School of Science and Engineering, Ehime University

○ Admission Policy of the Graduate School of Science and Engineering (Master's Program)

Target Applicants

While social and industrial structures are rapidly changing and application of science and technology to society and industry continues to be questioned, there is a shortage of professionals who can contribute to the creation of new value based on SDGs, Society 5.0, etc. Universities and graduate schools have an important mission to develop professionals who can flexibly respond to and contribute to changes in society and industry, and to educate and prepare them for society. Under these circumstances, the Graduate School of Science and Engineering, Ehime University, aims to develop science and engineering professionals with advanced knowledge and a new sense of values, who can work creatively on the regional and global stages, by establishing a wide ranging and distinctive education and research system from natural to applied sciences. For this purpose, the Graduate School of Science and Engineering seeks individuals with the following qualities and ambitions, who have completed (or are planning to complete) a bachelor's degree program in Japan or overseas, or who are employed to become researchers, engineers or highly specialized professionals in the field of science and engineering.

1. Basic academic knowledge: Individuals who have the knowledge, the education and the ethical standards equivalent to a bachelor's degree, and are willing to study in a specialized field of science and engineering and apply it to research activities.
2. Basic research capability: Individuals who have the basic skills necessary for research activities including logical thinking, English, communication and presentation skills.
3. Commitment to science and technology: Individuals who are committed to establishing themselves as a researcher, engineer, or highly specialized professional, and who are committed to utilizing the knowledge and skills of their specialized field for the benefit of society, culture and global environmental conservation.

Purpose of selection method for the Integrated Special Selection

In the Integrated Special Selection, an integrated evaluation of the interview together with an oral examination and application documents will be made for applicants who have completed (or are planning to complete) a bachelor's degree program in Japan or overseas, are international students or regular employees. The selection will be based on the comprehensive evaluation of their basic academic knowledge, basic research capabilities, and commitment to the science and engineering field, which are required for admission to the Master's Program.

○ Outline of the Graduate School of Science and Engineering (Master's Program)

An outline of the Graduate School of Science and Engineering (Master's Program) can be found in the separate document: 'Organization of the Graduate School of Science and Engineering, Outline of Education and Research of Major, Programs and Fields'. (https://www.eng.ehime-u.ac.jp/rikougaku/info/kaiso/documents/outline_en.pdf)

II. Number of Openings

Master's Program, Major of Science and Engineering of the Graduate School of Science and Engineering

 - ② Copy of Residence Card (if resident in Japan) or a copy of passport.
 - ③ Letter of Recommendation certifying that the applicant has been recommended by Ehime University's academic exchange partners abroad (Form #2).

Notes

- (1) For application, applicants will receive an acceptance reference number at the time of the pre-application entry. Applicants must complete the pre-application entry procedures.
- (2) After the pre-application admission eligibility assessment or pre-application entry, some application documents may be postponed or exempted from submission, or additional documents for confirmation may be requested individually. Applicants must follow those instructions upon receiving them.
- (3) Applications will not be accepted until the application processing fee has been paid and all application documents have been submitted. No applications will be accepted after the 'deadline date' in the <Outline of the Application>. Applicants must contact the University at the contact address on the application if they are unable to submit documents such as English test scores, copies of passports, or other documents before the application deadline.
- (4) All documents must be originals or certified copies of originals. Copies without the original certification will not be accepted as proof.
- (5) Incomplete application documents will not be accepted. If the payment of the application processing fee is insufficient, the application will be considered incomplete and will not be accepted.
- (6) Once the application documents have been received, no changes will be allowed for any reason. Application documents will not be returned. If any false information is found in the application documents received, the admission may be cancelled even after the applicant has been admitted.
- (7) Admission will be cancelled in the case that an applicant who has passed the entrance examination with the qualification of expected graduation (completion) fails to graduate (complete) by the date specified in this application.
- (8) The original and a copy of either the official TOEIC L&R or TOEFL iBT score or the certificate of Technical English Proficiency Test (level 2 or above) taken within two years prior to the expected date of admission must be submitted as proof of English proficiency. Applicants whose native language is English or who have received a bachelor's degree from a program in which English is the language of instruction may submit documents to prove it instead. Applicants who fall under these categories should inquire before submitting application documents. These certificates will be used to evaluate the language proficiency of applicants in the entrance examination and for statistics and analysis of the language proficiency of all applicants.
- (9) The application processing fee is not required if applicants meet any of the following conditions. Applicants must indicate it at the time of the pre-application entry.

- (a) International students recommended by one of Ehime University's academic exchange partners abroad
- (b) International students receiving a Japanese Government (Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology) Scholarship
- (c) International students other than the above who have been selected as Special International Students as determined by the University or the Graduate School of Science and Engineering
- (d) Applicants who are affected by natural disasters in areas covered by the Disaster Relief Act and who meet the special exemption requirements (Reference URL <https://www.ehime-u.ac.jp/entrance/natural-disasters-exemption/>)

3. Payment of Application Processing Fee

Payment in Japan

The application processing fee of 30,000 yen must be paid using the ‘Payment Slip’ available at the counter of the Japan Post Bank or post office. (ATMs should not be used.) The bank charges are to be paid by a remitter.

The following is an example of how to fill out the ‘Payment Slip.’

Example of how to fill out the ‘Payment Slip’

The image shows two forms side-by-side. The left form is titled '払込取扱票' (Payment Slip) and the right form is titled '振替払込請求書兼受領証' (Payment Slip Request Form and Receipt). Both forms have numbered circles 1 through 8 indicating where to fill in specific information. The left form includes fields for bank account numbers (1, 2, 3), amount (4), remitter name (5), address (6, 7), and remitter name (8). The right form includes fields for bank account numbers (1, 2, 3), amount (4), remitter name (5), address (6, 7), and remitter name (8). There are also instructions in Japanese regarding how to fill out the forms and where to paste the payment slip after payment.

- ① 01640 ② 2 ③92926 ④30000
- ⑤ NATIONAL UNIVERSITY CORPORATION EHIME UNIVERSITY
- ⑥ Graduate School of Science and Engineering, ○○ Program
- ⑦ (Fill in the remitter’s address) ⑧ (Fill in the name of the remitter)

After payment, the ‘payment slip’ (with the date of payment) must be pasted on the ‘Application Processing Fee Payment Certificate’ (Form #8) and submitted together with the application documents.

If the application processing fee has not been paid, or if the amount of the application processing fee is insufficient, the application will be considered incomplete and will not be accepted.

Payment from overseas

When remitting the application processing fee of 30,000 yen from an overseas financial institution, applicants must remit the fee in Japanese yen by telegraphic transfer to the financial institution listed below. No remittances in currencies other than Japanese yen will be accepted. The remitter (applicant) is responsible for all bank fees.

A copy of the Application for Remittance must be submitted with the application documents. The purpose of the remittance must be the application processing fee, and the applicant's name and the name of the graduate school for which the applicant is applying must be written in the required contact information.

If the application processing fee has not been paid, or if the amount of the application processing fee paid is insufficient, the application will be considered incomplete and will not be accepted.

VII. Notes on Application and Examination

1. Taking the Examination

- (1) Applicants will be notified of the date, time, method, and other details about the examination, and the date of notification of acceptance, etc., when the admission card is sent to the applicant. Applicants must confirm the information.
- (2) In the case of a face-to-face interview examination, the time of the examination, the examination room, and the location of the examination headquarters will be posted on the bulletin board at the examination site on the day before the examination date. Applicants are advised to confirm all the necessary information in advance. No prior inspection of the examination room is allowed.
- (3) Applicants must have their admission card when taking the examination. Applicants who have lost their admission card or forgot to bring it on the day of the examination must report it immediately.
- (4) If the applicants arrive late for the examination, they will be allowed to take the examination only if they arrive no later than 30 minutes after the examination starting time.
- (5) In the event of any misconduct, the examination will be invalidated and the applicant will not be allowed to proceed any further.
- (6) The admission card is required for admission formalities, additional admission, and requests for notification of individual results of the entrance examination. All applicants are requested to keep their admission card even after the examination is over.

2. Pre-registration for Applicants Requesting Reasonable Accommodation

Ehime University provides advance consultation for applicants/students with illnesses, injuries or disabilities to receive appropriate reasonable accommodation when taking entrance examinations or studying at the University.

- Applicants who need reasonable accommodation should indicate it in the pre-application entry. The University will provide information on procedures and other matters to those applicants.
- Applicants who use hearing aids, crutches, wheelchairs, etc. in their daily lives must also apply for reasonable accommodation for the examination. Applicants are not required to apply to bring and use a seat cushion, lap blanket, towel (any size), tissue paper, handkerchief, and eye drops during the examination.
- Applicants who request reasonable accommodation for the examination must submit the documents listed in (1) and (2) below together with the application documents. Based on the submitted documents, the contents of reasonable accommodation will be decided and the applicant will be notified. Since the University may need to inquire about the details of the submitted application, the applicant, guarantor, supervisor, or other person who can explain the applicant's situation in detail should consult with the University. If applicants need reasonable accommodation to take the examination due to an accident after applying, or if applicants have difficulty in submitting the required documents by the application deadline, they should promptly contact the University at the contact address on the application.

- (1) Application Form for Requesting Reasonable Accommodation for Examination (<https://www.ehime-u.ac.jp/entrance/master-guidelines-download/>)
- (2) A copy of the disability certificate or a medical certificate (a copy is acceptable) that describes the details of reasonable accommodation required for the entrance examination, or other documents that confirm the current status of the applicant's disability, etc.

3. Handling of Personal Information

Any personal information provided in application documents such as name and address are solely for processing applications, contacting applicants if an application document is incomplete, conducting the entrance examination, notifying successful applicants, and sending admission formalities documents. If an application document is incomplete, Ehime University may notify the contact person on the application form to request the document be promptly amended and resubmitted.

Personal information related to this selection will be managed by the University for the purpose of conducting operations related to educational affairs (student registration, academic guidance, etc.), student support (health management, scholarship applications, etc.) and tuition payment after the successful applicants have been admitted; and for the purpose of surveying and analyzing application trends to improve the entrance examinations. Personal information will not be used for any other purpose or provided to anyone other than related faculty and staff of the University.

4. Notification of Entrance Examination Results

The Graduate School will notify the applicants of the total entrance examination score (no proxy is allowed). Rankings will not be disclosed. Applicants who wish to have their scores notified should inquire during the request period and follow the procedures.

Request period: within one week from the date of notification of acceptance

How to request: Applicants should e-mail their inquiries. The University will reply with instructions on how to proceed.
